

Hayes State Park

Tuesday July 15:

We Are Nuts for Small Mammals!, 3:00 PM at the Activities Area

Those little furry creatures running around the park are more important than you think. Come find out why!

Wednesday July 16:

Is That A Bear In The Woods?, 10:00 AM at the Activities Area

We haven't seen a bear around here in many years, but could we soon? Learn about large mammal habitats and why they may be headed our way!

Oh Deer!, 2:00 PM at Walker Historical Tavern

What do deer eat? Can you stop them from eating your garden? Where do they live? What is a deer's natural predator? It's not cars! Join us for Oh Deer!

Thursday July 17:

Hayes Has It!, 8:00 PM at the Activities Area

How many habitats exist at Hayes for mammals to thrive in? Come play the habitat game and learn how animals survive at Hayes, and around Michigan!

Friday July 18:

Tasty Treats For Mammals, 4:00 PM at the Activities Area

Hayes State Park is full of natural tasty treats for mammals. Why is it so important not to feed them anything else? Play the "Danger Game" and be stewards for mammals!

Mammals in Folklore, 9:00 PM at the Community Campfire

Come together for a camper campfire and hear stories of American Indian folklore of animals. Host Peggy will bring treats!

Saturday July 19:

Ooooo, Foxy Lady!, 2:00pm at the Activities Area

No, it's not a 70's Flashback! What does the fox say? Are they related to coyotes and wolves? How are they different from other mammals? Lots of fascinating facts about foxes will be learned! Play "Fox in the Henhouse" too.
